

Year 12 Art

The Year 12 curriculum is designed to develop students' ability to record and develop ideas, analyse the works of other artists; explore materials and refine work by selecting and experimenting with materials, techniques and processes; develop and produce outcomes which are personal and creative based on their research and investigations. Throughout the curriculum units are designed to introduce A Level expectations and explore Fine Art, Design, Ceramics and Printmaking outcomes and processes. There is a greater emphasis on personal development of ideas and themes as the year progresses in order to help students develop and explore issues and ideas in their own self-directed unit in the form of the 'Personal Study'.

Methods of deepening and securing knowledge:
Retrieval practice	Links with GCSE AOs and Similarities with AOs at A Level. Drawing, Painting, Printmaking and Ceramic skills. Design process. Recording ideas. Artists' research.
Elaboration	Formal analysis of artists' work and making more thoughtful links with ideas and meanings. Annotation of own work in greater depth.
Concrete examples	Artists' work, Student sketchbooks and outcomes. Demonstrations of techniques and processes.

Homework:

Students are set homework which directly relates to the development of their coursework outcomes. This can be researching and creating artists' pages, taking photographs of appropriate subjects which are relevant to the topics studied, drawings, designs and trial ideas or refining and improving classwork in their sketchbooks.
