Fiji History

Fijian Gods and Beliefs.

There are two famous shark gods. They are called Dakuwaqa and Degei. They are two shark brothers who rule the sea.

There is a myth about how christianity was brought up. A samoan came to Fiji and changed his name to a more Fijian like name. He had made people believe that he had killed the shark, God Dakuwaqa, because at the time Fijians were cannibals and didn't know who god was until he came and spread the word of christianity. The last country to stop eating humans was the Naihehe Caves in Sigatoka, Fiji.

Pacific Country.

Grog or kava

Grog is a traditional drink that Fijians drink. It is made from roots of leaves and comes out in a powdered form.

This is a Tanoa. It is where Fijians prepare the grog.

Kava looks like this as water has been Mixed with it. People drink out of dried coconut shells.
